

September 9, 2014 Social Service Facilities Regulating These Needed But Sometimes Problematic Facilities

The City is moving aggressively this year to deal with long standing issues regarding Public Safety. Ordinances dealing with loitering, sleeping in public places and soliciting are working their way through the approval process. The next piece of the program, regulations for social service facilities (SSFs) will be at the City Commission this month. The proposal would keep SSFs at least 500 feet from a residential district, prevent the concentration of these facilities and introduce operating regulations.

Ms Jenni Morgon, Director Designee of the Department of Sustainable Development will give us an overview of the public safety ordinances and present the SSF ordinance. Read the proposal before the meeting at:
